

Vikas Dikshit

Vikas Dikshit is a mechanical engineer. He has experience of running his own businesses for more than thirty years. He has studied mind for over twenty three years out of hobby and has developed this subject with passion and love, for its application within families for many years. He is Master practitioner of Neuro Linguistic Programming and a Huna expert. He conducts trainings for parents, students, teachers, and project managers. He also does counselling and mentoring.

His areas of expertise are:

- NLP and Huna Methods
- Personality Development
- Business Development for SME units
- Soft skills development and HR applications