About the speaker

Satyajit is trained legal professional but is best known as director of "Satyamev Jayate", a TV show focused on addressing social issues in India. Currently, he is CEO of Paani Foundation, a non-profit organization founded by Aamir Khan and Kiran Rao. Paani Foundation is focused on making Maharashtra drought-free. Satyajit has always been interested and actively involved in important social and political causes and has written extensively on them. His experiences as an activist and as a lawyer led him to believe he had a story to tell and in his mid-thirties he quit law to work in film and television.
